Residents Lining Streets To Greet Returning Soldiers

WELCOME HOME!—Members of the 207th Evacuation Hospital as they began their out-processing from the active army shortly after they returned to the United States from duty in Saudi Arabia. The unit treated over 1,000 patients including many of the victims of the SCUD attack on Daharan, Saudi Arabia. Greeting the 207th (far left) is LTC Roger Burrows, the 207th's new Brigade Commander. Sitting in the center of the picture is SFC Jim Baker and to his right is his wife, SSG Geraldine Baker, both of Grayling.

Detachment Two of the 207th Evacuation Hospital will be the first Michigan Army National Guard unit based at Camp Grayling, to return home from active service in Operation Desert Storm. They will arrive in Grayling by bus on Wednesday evening, May 8. Their expected arrival time is around 7 p.m.

Local residents, friends, and family members are encouraged to line the streets of Grayling with flags and flashlights as the bus is escorted into the city by county, city and military police. Upon arrival at the Camp Grayling Armory, the soldiers will store their weapons and unit equipment and then they will be free to greet family and friends and return to their homes. No speeches will be allowed at the homecoming, but light refreshment will be provided for those waiting.

The arrival route will include exiting the I-75 expressway at North Down River Road and travelling south on Michigan Avenue, down Business Loop South to the city limits, and back through Grayling to the camp.

Detachment Two is part of the 402-member hospital unit that left Michigan on November 23 and flew to Saudi Arabia in early January. After four months of treating patients in two Saudi hospitals, the members returned to Fort McCoy, Wisconsin, last Saturday, May 4.

For updates, call MAJ Jerry Fochl at 348-3708.

The next Camp Grayling Support Group meeting will be Saturday, May 11, at 4:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall to discuss the return of the 1439th and 1440th Engineer Detachments and the 745th E.O.D.

There will also be a meeting on Tuesday, May 14th at 6:30 p.m.

Some military personnel have already returned home and have been welcomed. Tony Henning received a nice welcome home on May 1. If there are more coming, please call 348-2378, 348-6318, or 348-7756 with their names and expected arrival dates.

Businesses Asked To Plant Red, White, & Blue Petunias

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce is asking area businesses to coordinate their spring planting with the celebration of our troops returning from "Operation Desert Storm" by planting red, white, and blue petunias along store fronts and walkways. The Chamber will be completing the Chamber entrance in the city park as a patriotic gesture. The businesses are asked to continue this theme through out the county.

Businesses that line the I-75 business loop and M-72 East and West are encouraged to participate in the spring planting celebration. Due to construction projects currently in progress along the South I-75 business loop, portions of the Chamber's proposed route will not be planted this year. Still those businesses may want to do planters or hanging baskets in or near their buildings with the red/white/blue theme.

The Grayling Promotional Association has volunteered to plant the "Welcome" signs at the entrance of town on the I-75 business loop and on M-72 West. Additionally, the GPA's Beautification Committee is asking area businesses or individuals to "Adopt A Spot" to plant flowers where businesses are not available or land is vacant.

So mark your calendars for June 1 as "Grayling Grow" planting day. The Chamber will hold an informal "Business After Grow" reception on June 6 at Chief Shoppenagon's Hotel.

$20,000 G-P Donation Fuels Beaver Creek Recreation Area Plans

By Irene Pettyjohn

A $20,000 donation presented to Beaver Creek Township supervisor John Hartman on Thursday, May 2, from Georgia-Pacific, Inc. will go a long way towards completing the new Beaver Creek Recreation Area.

About 40 persons met at the 36-acre site on Friday, April 26, for the park's ground breaking ceremony. Hartman said the new park was an ambitious project for a community the size of Beaver Creek Township and praised the support of the township board and the volunteer effort by township residents. He said Beaver Creek Township is one of the fastest growing townships in the state. The 1980 census credited Beaver Creek Township with a population of 745. The 1990 census showed 1,175 residents, an increase of 63%.

The $157,000 recreation area will consist of a regulation size soccer and baseball diamond, two tennis courts, horseshoe pits, shuffleboard court, separate pre-school and elementary-age playgrounds, an outdoor picnic area surrounding the playgrounds, and a large multi-purpose field. The park will also have a 20 x 24 foot pavilion with rest rooms and a 40 x 70 foot community center that will be equipped with a kitchen and a hall that will accommodate approximately 100 to 150 persons. The community center will be available for rent for parties such as wedding receptions and graduation parties and other community meetings.

Hartman said the majority of the labor involved in park construction will be either volunteered or done by inmates from Camp Lehman.

Remaining construction costs will be paid for by township funds and donations from businesses and private individuals. In addition to the Georgia-Pacific donation of $5,000 cash and $15,000 in building materials, Beaver Creek Township also received $3,000 last year from the Weyerhaeuser Foundation.

It is estimated that the recreation area will be finished in about 18 months. Actual construction will be finished before then, but Hartman said the additional time is needed to establish grass on the different fields. Play-ground equipment has already been ordered.

State Representative Ralph Ostling, Senator Pridnia representative Jeanette Kitchen, county commissioners Robert Smock and Lee Riley (who is a Beaver Creek resident and was a member of the park feasibility committee), Rodger Anger from the Weyerhaeuser Structurwood Plant as well as many Beaver Creek township officers and residents attended the ground breaking ceremony. As they

AuSable Hotel Burns To Ground

The AuSable Hotel, a 100-year-old Frederic landmark, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday, May 7.

The fire started in the hotel's kitchen by a deep fryer at 11:30 a.m. By the time Frederic firemen arrived at the scene, which is only one block from the Frederic Fire Dept., the downstairs of the building was engulfed in flames.

"It went right through the dry old structure," said Frederic Fire Chief Al Leng.

No one in the hotel was injured.

At one point Leng said there were about 30 firemen from various area fire departments fighting the blaze. One fireman, Ken Ledeman, a Frederic fireman, received flash over burns and was treated and released from Grayling Mercy Hospital.

In addition to Frederic volunteers, firemen from the Grayling City and Township, Department of Natural Resources, Otsego Lake Township and Camp Grayling fire departments fought to contain the fire. A National Guard helicopter equipped with a Bambi Bucket made several passes over the burning building, dropping its load of water.

Leng said smoke was a major factor in fighting the fire. Five hours after the fire started, firemen were still pouring water on open flames and smoke billowed into the air, choking spectators caught downwind.

Over its 100-year history, the AuSable Hotel was called by several names and had many owners including the Sajdak family from Frederic, who owned and operated the hotel, bar, and restaurant for more than 20 years. The current owner is Jerald Graham, who bought the business about six years ago.

ONE YEAR LATER: Our Worst Fire Ever

A rapidly spreading wildfire swept across 5,916 acres of a wildland/urban interface area near Grayling, Michigan beginning around 3:50 PM on May 8, 1990.

More than 76 homes and 125 other structures, plus 37 vehicles and boats, were destroyed or heavily damaged during the approximately five hours in which the wind pushed the Stephan Bridge Road fire for a distance of more than eight miles. Losses from the fire have been estimated at $5.5 million, plus another $700,000 in destroyed timber. Extinguishment costs were more than $56,000. Due to a number of circumstances, 131 structures within the fire perimeter or immediately adjacent to it survived the fire.

The fire originated from the controlled burning of a large pile of brush and timber accumulated from recently cleared land. A burning permit was issued for the controlled burn and the burning was begun while snow covered the ground. It was later assumed that the pile was completely extinguished. However, investigators determined that the remaining fuel in the pile rekindled—seven weeks after that initial ignition—and escaped undetected from the cleared area. The resulting fire spread to other nearby ground fuels and extended into the adjacent forest before being detected by a Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) aircraft pilot and observer.

Nature, especially weather, played a significant role in the ignition and spread of this fire. May is typically the month of highest weather-related fire danger in the region, a time when low rainfall, rising temperatures and high winds combine to dry out the forest and ground fuels.

Further affecting the conditions for severe fire danger were the soils in the region. With a high mixture of sand, the soil is quick to drain any precipitation, making it especially difficult for the growing vegetation to find moisture.

Then, during fire suppression, weather added another major factor affecting fire control when a cold front passed through the fire area around 8:30 that night. Strong gusting winds sent the fire out of control in a new direction, placing fire crews, evacuees and more homes in greater danger. Fortunately for the firefighters, the passing front also produced rainfall that helped contain the fire.

The predominate forest fuel in the area is "jack pine," which firefighters know during the early spring has characteristics that make it relatively easy to ignite and, once ignited, produces fire intensity that results in rapid-spread crown fires—especially when driven by significant winds—and significant fire spotting. The date of the fire coincides with the seasonal time of the lowest moisture content in the needles of jack pine. In addition to jack pine fuels, dried ground fuels composed of vegetation from the previous year contributes significantly to the combustible available fuel in the area. As a result, May is annually a time of predictable high fire danger in the region. Unfortunately, the risk of similar type wildfires exists in all of the Great Lake states during other times of the year as well.

First response to this fire was by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Some 22 fire departments and firefighters from local and state agencies worked to eventually contain the fire. Firefighters, law enforcement personnel and state employees combined to evacuate 500 residents from the fast-moving, wind-driven fire. Fortunately there were no fatalities and only one firefighter was injured from smoke inhalation.

Findings from the analysis of this fire indicates that the initial scope and rate of spread of the fire was greater than could be controlled by human intervention.

This wildfire represents yet another increasingly common example of the risks of building homes in areas of scenic but combustible vegetation. Northern Lower Michigan is an area with a long history of wildfires, yet people continue to build new structures dangerously close to this vegetation and too often take little or no precaution to protect themselves against known risks.

Despite increasing concern and prevention efforts by state, federal and local fire protection agencies in Michigan, and despite the mobilization of so many firefighters, this fire became the most destructive fire in Crawford County history.

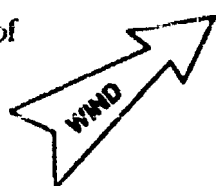

FIRE EXTENSION AND ATTACK

Even from the time of initial detection, fire managers knew this was going to be a major fire. The first unit to arrive reported crown fire conditions with structures already involved. This necessitated a massive evacuation at the same time as fire suppression efforts were organizing.

The fire boss for the fire developed a plan and decided suppression would be by flank attack only. Black line construction would be used whenever possible. This plan would be a standard approach for a fire of this magnitude anywhere. Firefighter's lives would not be risked to save structures at or near the head of the fire.

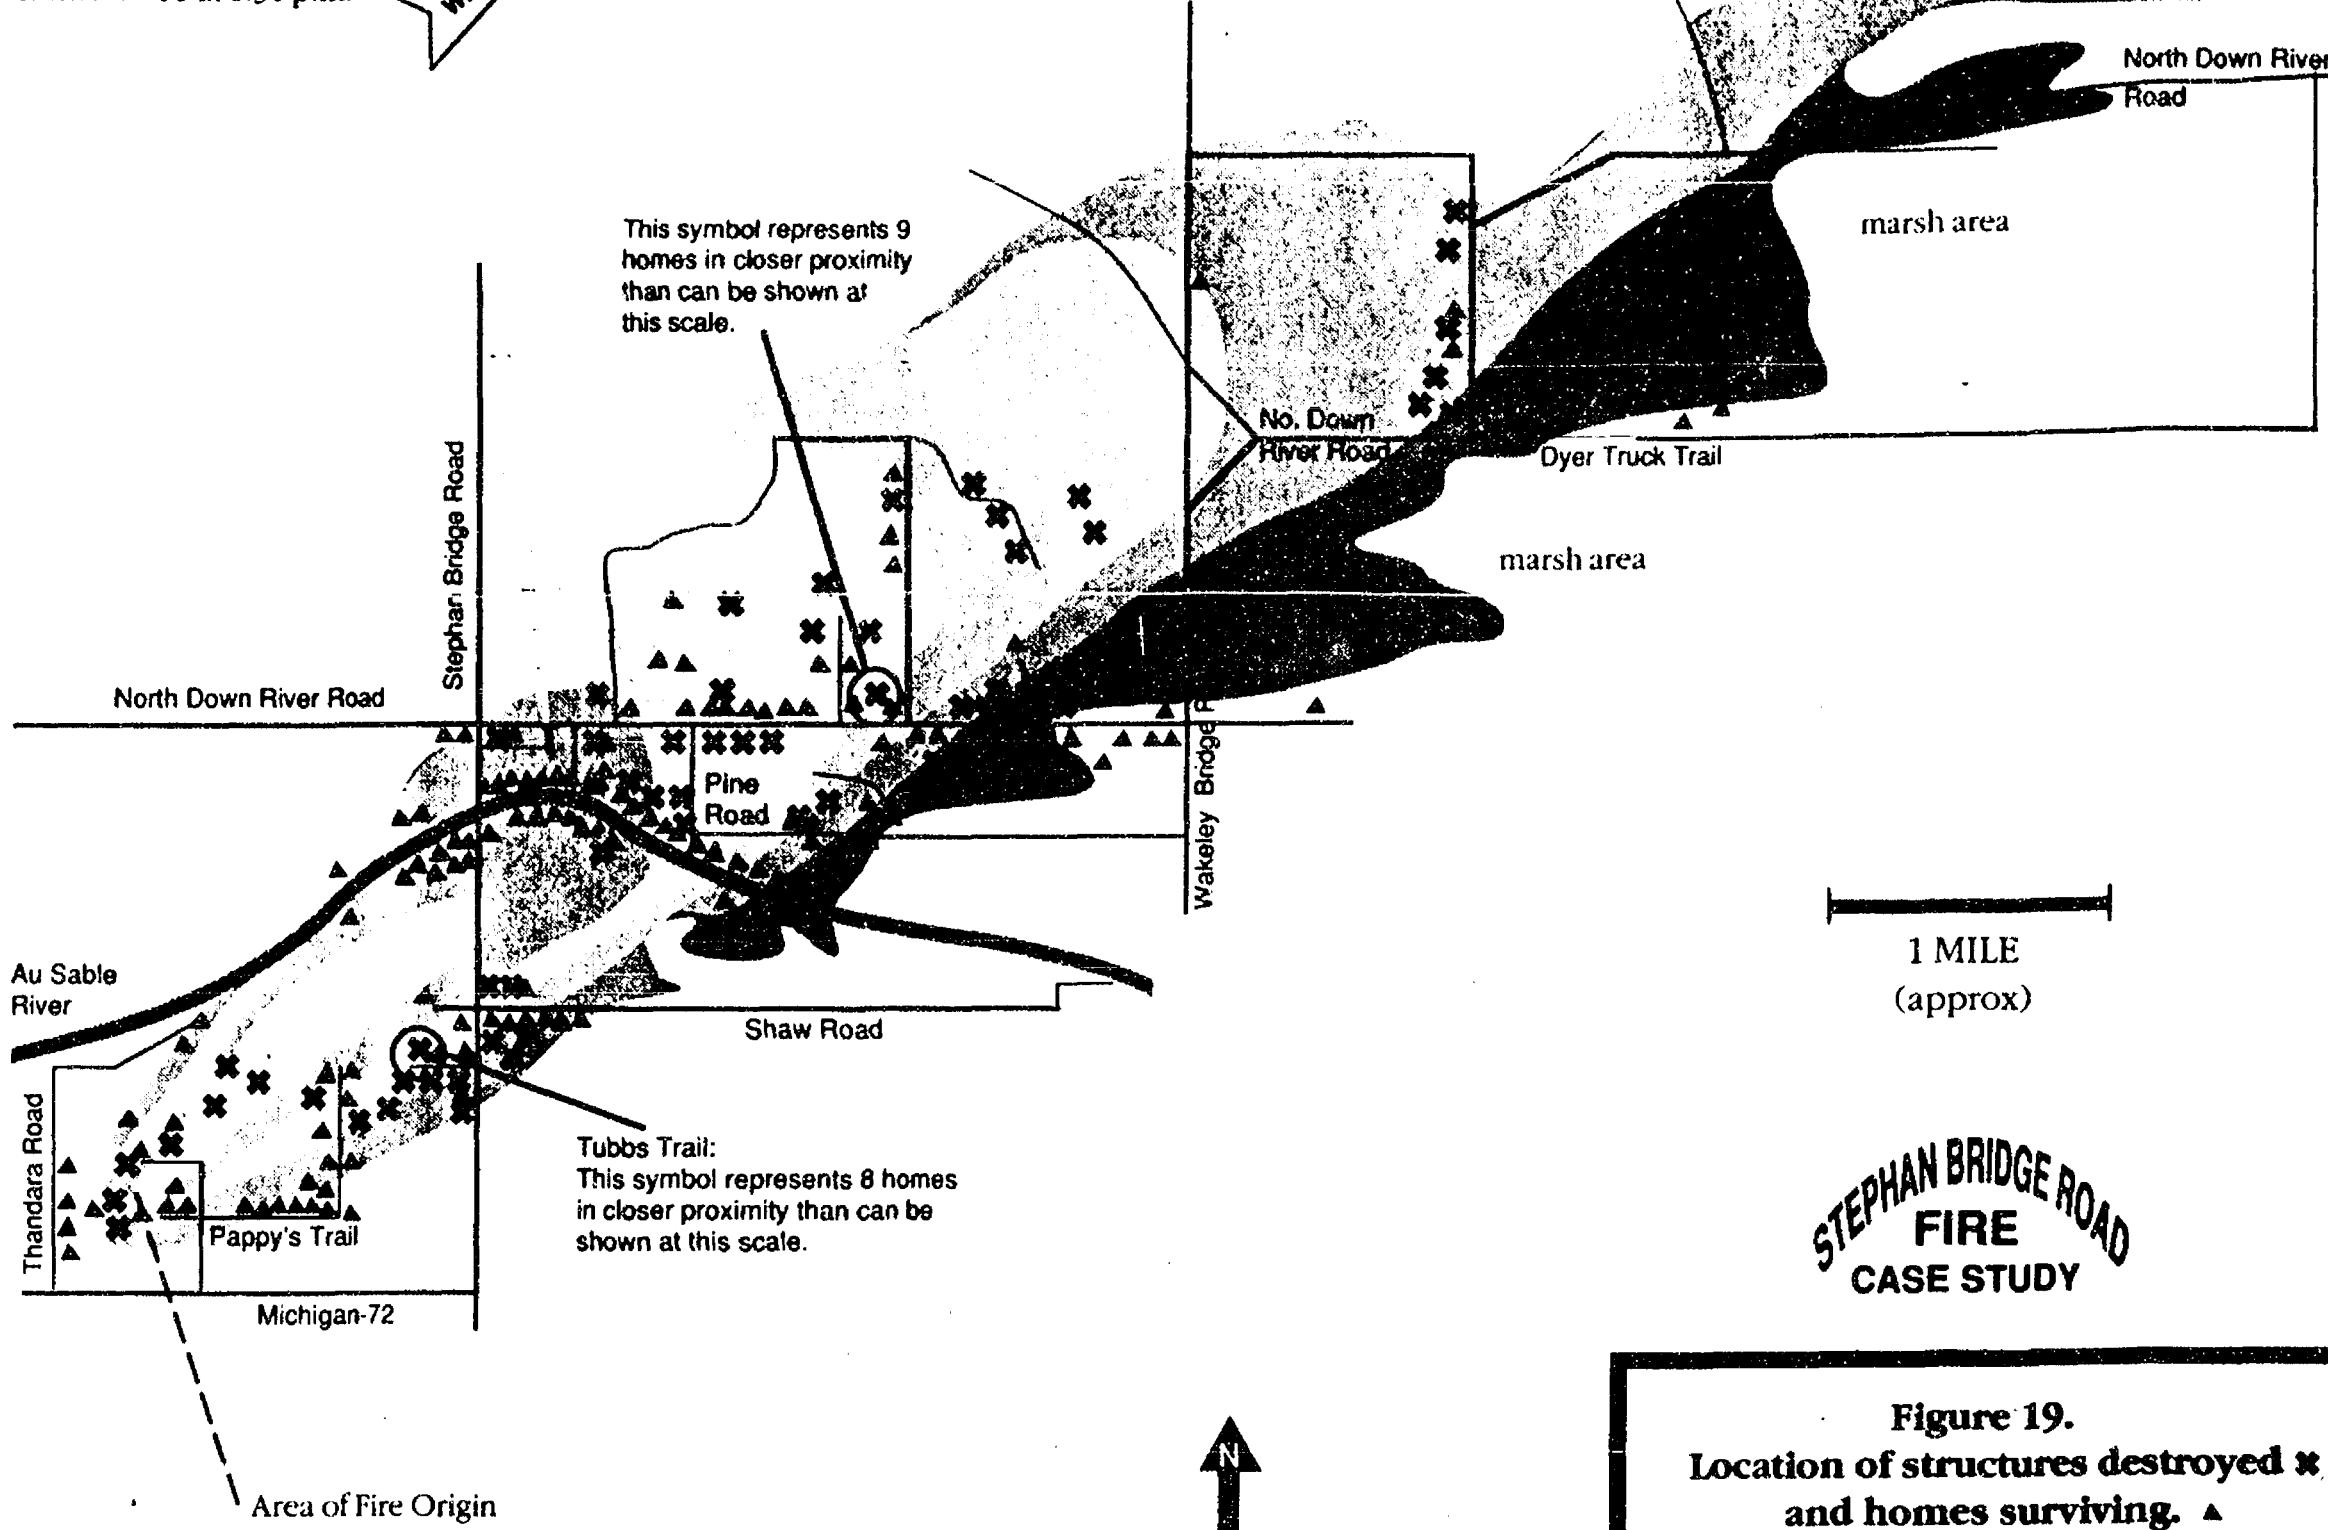

Individuals who have never seen the power and speed of a major wildfire might think the way to stop its spread is to mass fire crews and equipment in the path of the fire and drown it with numerous streams of water. The fire boss knew that in such rural areas, piped water was not available in quantity for massive firefighting

LOSS OF STRUCTURES

Many homes in the direct path of the main fire front could not have been saved by any available fire fighting force. Several conditions made this a reality:

- Piped water supplies were not available.
- Fire spotting over the heads of fire crews could have trapped them if they tried to attack at the head of the fire.
- Inadequate clearance of combustible vegetation allowed the fire to burn right up to the structure—and into it.
- High winds held more heat lower to the ground in front of the fire and increasingly preheated a structure before the fire front arrived. This massive radiant heat could even overcome the benefits of greater vegetation clearance. Such a preheated structure tended to burst into flames all across the structure, making control impossible with the available water supplies.

Even so, in many cases homes were spared. Investigators felt that the lack of combustible roofs played an important role in their survival. Further, they observed that fire suppression crews worked hard to extinguish the ground fires near the homes that survived the crown fire. Finally, they observed that survival was more likely if clearance from combustible vegetation was present.

STRUCTURE SURVIVAL IN OR NEAR THE FIRE ZONE

More structures survived the fire than were destroyed by the fire. The map in Figure 18 shows the location of the surviving structures within the fire area. The indicated structures generally fall into three groupings:

- Those facing slower-moving flanking fires. From the area of fire origin (lower left), the fire raced with the wind to the northeast. After the main fire front extended past each center area, fire continued to spread out to the flanks, but at a slower rate because this was at right angles to the wind. Homes in the flank areas generally faced flames that were less intense, and the slower spread rate allowed more options for fire crews to move in and defend single homes and groups of structures that were relatively close together.
- Those located along the Au Sable River. The river contributed to a microclimate that helped reduce fire intensity in that area. Tree species along the river were less conducive than jack pine to rapid burning and crowning. Increased humidity was another factor. Vegetation of all types grew more densely along the river because of the additional moisture; that density further helped hold to humidity even during windy conditions. Unfortunately, the wind was strong enough to help the fire spot over the river and continue burning into new stands of jack pine.
- Those in the path of the main fire front. These structures were often facing the head of the fire, with its higher burning intensities. Determination of why individual structures survived in the face of such high intensity burning requires a case-by-case analysis based on conditions existing before the fire. Structures survived the main fire front north of North Down River Road and also south of that road after the wind changed direction around 8:30 pm.

Homeowners Can Help Protect Residences Against Forest Fires

By Don Johnson,

DNR Forest Management Division

Picture a wall of flame, reaching hundreds of feet into the air, moving across the landscape, devouring homes, buildings and trees at the rate of 1.5 miles per hour. Firefighters and equipment are pouring in from neighboring communities in an effort to stop the fire and protect all of the homes that lie in its path. It is too large, however, and too many homes are threatened. There are too few firefighters and too much area to cover; many homes are lost.

The scene just described did not happen in a Western state, but right here in Michigan, on May 8, 1990. Homeowners in the Grayling area watched in disbelief as their homes and possessions were engulfed in flames. Even though they were repeatedly warned of this possibility, they thought: "it could never happen here."

Yet it did.

Fires the size of the Stephan Bridge Road Fire are a common spring occurrence in northern Michigan. Dead grass from the previous year is tinder-dry, and the needles of the Jack pine are at their lowest moisture content of the year, able to burn readily. These conditions, combined with warm, dry, windy days are the perfect recipe for the large wildfires that have been burning in Michigan for hundreds of years.

"We are watching this year's fire season closely, since Michigan has experienced several years of less than normal precipitation. We are hoping people will be very careful, since the potential for wildfire could reach extreme proportions," said Don Johnson of the Forest Management Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

Let anyone think that only large fires in pine areas are dangerous, on Halloween day last year, a person burning leaves in Cass County, which has a landscape dominated by hardwoods, lost control of her fire. In a very short time, four homes were lost, and a fifth was damaged.

Wherever homes and structures are built in rural areas the potential for loss of life and property exists.

Understanding that wildfires are a fact of nature, there are steps individual homeowners can take to protect their homes. These steps are even more important for seasonal residences that are left unattended for extended periods of time. The steps involve: 1) providing adequate clearances between structures and flammable vegetation; 2) providing access for fire equipment; and 3) providing structural barriers against the entry of flying sparks or embers.

1. The most important precaution is providing adequate clearance between any structure and the surrounding vegetation. Provide 25 feet between structures and any coniferous trees (pines, spruce, etc.). Firefighters need that space to give them room to defend your home in a wildfire situation. In many instances, it may be enough space to prevent your home from catching fire, even without firefighters present.

For the next 75 feet, or if you have a small lot, as far out as your can, thin out any coniferous trees so their crowns don't touch. Remove small evergreens that could allow a fire to climb into the tree tops. Prune remaining trees six to eight feet above the ground. Mow this area, if possible. A mowed lawn makes a great fuel break.

Keep the areas under porches and decks clear of any flammable debris. Keep roofs clear of dead leaves and needles. Clear out rain gutters of such debris frequently, especially in the spring. And, keep wood piles at least 25 feet from structures and fuel tanks, or in a wood shed separate from other buildings.

2) Provide access for firefighting equipment. Narrow two-tracks may be adequate for your car, but large firefighting equipment needs room to maneuver. Also provide enough space for fire trucks to turn around. Firefighters won't enter an area where they could become trapped.

Think twice about a gate, chain or other obstruction across your driveway. There may not be time to break it down in the event of a wildfire. Firefighters could be forced to go on to the next home and pass yours by simply because they couldn't get past the gate.

3) Finally, eliminate any openings in your home where flying sparks could enter. Enclose open eaves, and use metal screening on soffit and gable vents. Use fire-resistant skirting around the base of mobile homes, porches, and decks so that fire cannot get underneath.

Wood shakes have not been very common roofing material in Michigan, although they are becoming more popular. Wood shake roofs are very dangerous because they cannot be made fire resistant; any ember that lands on a shake roof will set it on fire.

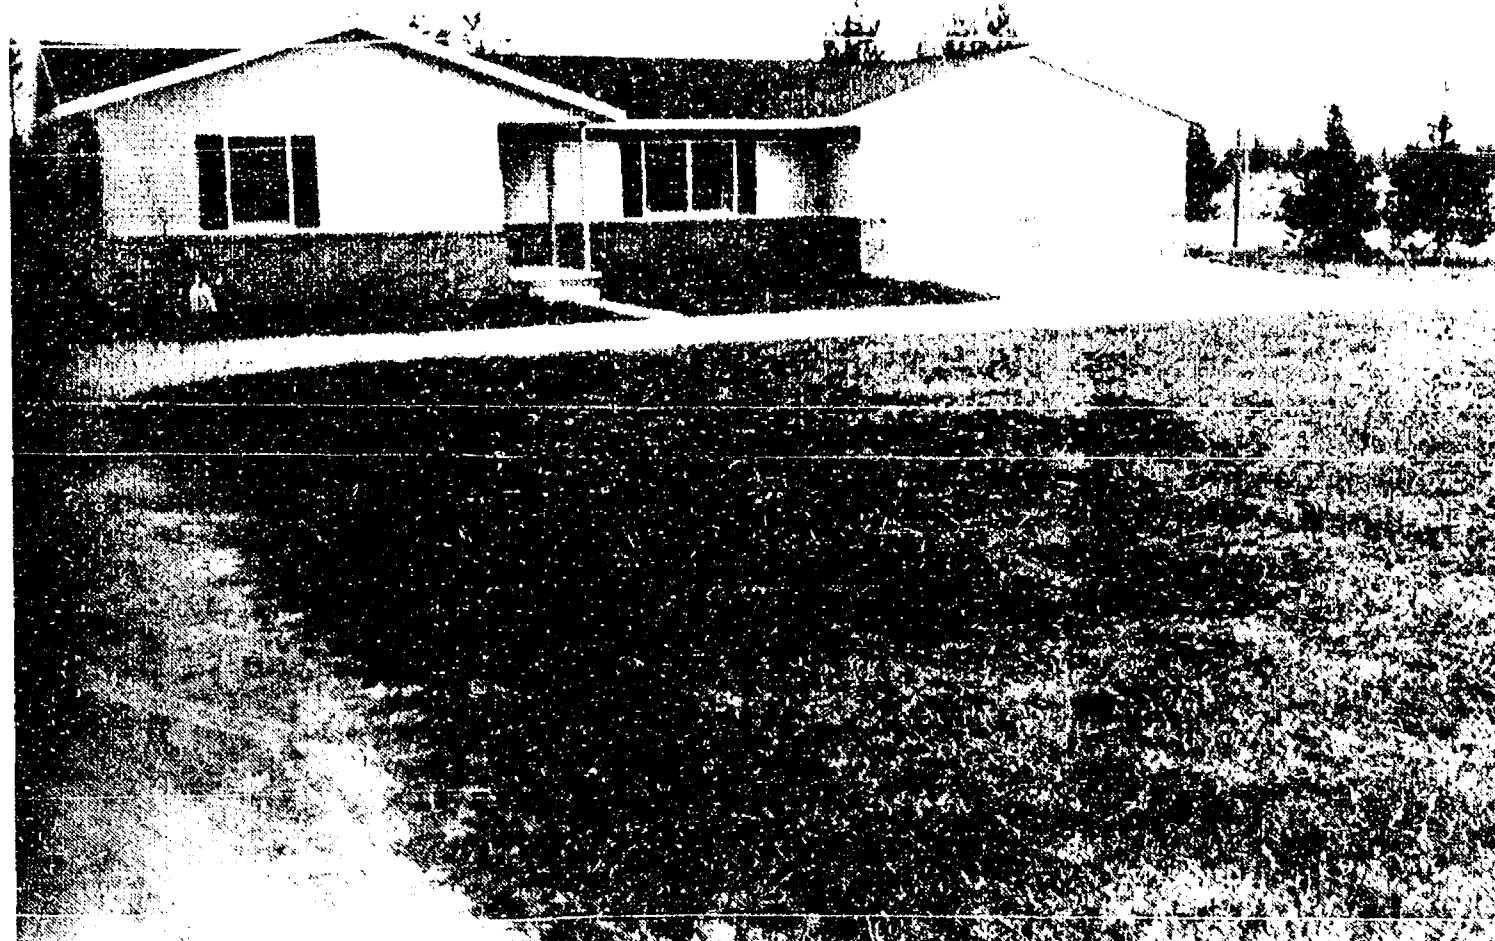

Many homes have been lost in other states simply because of wood shake roofs.

As more people build homes in rural areas of Michigan, those homeowners must assume responsibility of protecting their homes from wildfire. They also must be extremely careful with controlled fires around their homes and property, that could quickly and easily become wildfire, and destroy property belonging to others.

"Remember... only you can prevent forest fires."

NEW HOME—The Guy Williams residence on Stephan Bridge Road was destroyed by last May's forest fire. The home has been replaced except for the lawns, which are just waiting for some warm spring rains.

READY FOR PLANTING—This burned-over area on Stephan Bridge has been furrowed and appears ready for tree planting.

CHARRED REMINDER—One year later, the residents on Pappy's Trail look out their windows and see this still blackened forest. These residents were the first to experience the fury of the May 8, 1990, forest fire. Flames roared through the area so fast that fire fighters were forced to run for their lives. They were able to get their equipment out only minutes before flames engulfed the area.

Notes From The Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

Wednesday, May 8, 1991.

A writer friend called a few months ago.

He was due to be in Grayling soon. While he didn't wish to be exploitative, he wondered if we would like to share our thoughts and feelings about rebuilding our lives now that the forest fire was months in the past.

He is a kind man who writes with sensitivity and compassion. If I were to give my story to anyone, it would be to him. But I tell him no, I prefer to tell it myself.

It is one year to the day that our home, our animals and our woods were burned to death.

On that evening and in the days that followed we thought that meant our lives were over, too.

They weren't.

We have been traumatized certainly, changed probably, toughened perhaps. But we are not yet ready to give up.

THE BIGGEST LOSS

Every day I grieve for and deeply miss my pets. I live with a dull, regular pain that quickens and pierces at unexpected moments.

Because it strikes without warning, stimulated by any number of unrelated occurrences, I have no time to set up my defenses. But now I am used to the attacks, allow their hurt wash over me in a palpable, physical way and carry on.

I expect to grieve for them the rest of my life.

When I was a young child, we acquired a dog — half springer spaniel, half collie — that quickly outgrew our house and yard.

Given my family's demonstrated inability to raise a large dog in a small neighborhood and several neighbors' complaints, my father took her — twice — to the animal shelter. The first time, we mourned her loss so badly that he returned to pick her up. The second time, neither she nor we were so lucky.

More than 30 years have passed since I lost that dog, but I have never stopped grieving for her. I expect that it will be no different with the four that died last May.

However, I found some unexpected words of comfort when I read Amy Tan's novel, The Joy Luck Club:

She wrote, "It's not that we had no heart or eyes for pain. . . . We all had our miseries. But to despair was to wish back for something already lost. Or to prolong what was already unbearable."

So I grieve. But I try to avoid despair.

OTHER LOSSES

After the pets, we regret losing our massive collection of photographs. That loss was so devastating that we find it difficult to begin again to take photos, because we can never come close to replacing those that are gone.

Then come the sentimental and valuable items.

Most everything else can be replaced.

THE RECOVERY

Every family whose home burned approached their recovery a bit differently. For us, the right choice was to leave the area and find another home.

We took the summer, fall and early winter to become re-established in the new place, which is very much unlike our former home in style and in furnishings.

Why try to recreate the former look, we reasoned, when our family treasures, antiques, collections, art, special gifts and one-of-a-kind finds are gone?

We opted instead for a new look which seems to suit us well.

The lot we chose is much smaller than were our woods. But it is beautiful, with mature pines and hardwoods that shade the yard and provide habitat for neighborhood squirrels, rabbits and songbirds. Ducks swim by in the slow-moving current behind the house.

There are fish, too, in the water. Dave caught a couple small fish last fall and a nice 14-incher this spring.

They are not like the browns and rainbows that live in the fast-moving current off Pine Road, though. In the past month, he has returned to our old Pinchurst property to park his car and fish the Holy Waters.

He said that all other things being equal, he would prefer to live his former existence in his former home. But all things aren't equal and he seems to have adapted quite well to life in town.

We shopped nearly every weekend last fall and winter until we ran out of insurance money. There are still more items to purchase, but they will be added slowly now out of our regular income.

Four days after the fire, we were interviewed by a reporter who asked for our reactions.

"Everything that defined us is gone," we told him.

We were wrong. We had no sense of this truth: we define ourselves. The external trappings perhaps accentuate the definition, but do not in and of themselves do the defining.

What we should have told the reporter is this: "Very much of what we love is gone." That was and still is true.

Yet much of what we love survived. And that, I believe, is why we were able to continue, to improve and — perhaps someday — to heal.

I have written before of the outpouring of goodness of which we were beneficiaries. That goodness and generosity continues even today.

I look around the house and see that it is filled with gifts given to us from family and friends and occasionally even strangers. And I am in awe of the loving human spirit that accompanied those gifts.

A SHINE IS GONE

Dave has a friend whose three-year-old son died a tragic and sudden death. "Do you ever recover?" Dave asked him.

"No," replied the man. "You will laugh again and there will be good times. But the shine that life once had is gone."

So we make our accommodations to a less-than-shiny existence. We are not, by far, the only people forced to weather a disaster. There are examples of great human courage and spirit in the face of tragedy all around us.

We try to laugh.

Often we talk about it.

We celebrate daily life more completely. Dave always had a strong sense of the passage of time and the need to cherish the moment.

Now our appreciation of the mundane has become more finely honed. Perhaps the ability to catch the moment is learned quickly when one realizes how easily an entire past can be swept away.

I would like to tell you that we are better human beings, with improved human traits forged and tempered by the fire. I'm sorry to say I don't believe that is the case. We seem to be pretty much the same folks we were before.

Perhaps we have acquired a maturity, a peacefulness, a sense of perspective. It is much easier now to set priorities.

Perhaps we are scarred human beings, unable to fully re-establish intimacies that came easily before the fire.

At any rate, we survived. And for now, life goes on.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

When I was a kid any decent clothes you might have been saved to wear to school. When you came home from school you changed into your old clothes for doing chores and playing. Now when I refer to old clothes, I am talking about clothes that had been in the family much longer than I had. Being the youngest of the family meant any clothes my older brothers had not managed to wear out wound up in my wardrobe.

All in all that was not too bad for they were the kind of clothes that were worn around here. What I used to hate were those care packages my mother's sister Anna used to send up from Detroit. I had a cousin there who was a little older than I and unfortunately the clothes he had outgrown were just my size. Now the clothes worn by the son of a wealthy lawyer in Detroit were not what we wore up here. I well remember those nice little suits with their knicker pants. They may have been the big thing in Detroit, but would get you laughed out of the class room up here. I used to get in a lot of fights in school and those Little Lord Fauntleroy suits had a lot to do with it. It was a great pleasure to get home from school and put on my old clothes and feel human again. Those care packages came about twice a year and mixed in might be a pair or two of overalls and a few other things that I could wear without a fight. Aunt Anna meant well and I always had to send her a Thank You note. Some were genuine but some times I really had to stretch the truth when I thanked her.

Well, the old man hopes to soon find time to do a little exploring of some of the old sites here in Crawford County. I have been doing some research on some of the old town sites and hope to get out and visit them. Just walking around those old sites even if there is nothing left, somehow makes you feel closer to those who once walked that ground. I can't help but feel sorry that good people lived out their lives around this area and we really do not know much about them. Very few won any fame or recognition, they worked hard and raised their families under poor conditions then passed on. We see the old sites of their towns and homes and perhaps their final resting place and can only wonder about their times here on earth. We only know they lived harsh tough lives with very few if any days when it was not a struggle to just survive. They had no government agencies there ready to see they were fed and clothed, in those days it was root hog or die. You were not given the choice of working or welfare in their day. I don't doubt that those working at minimum wage today make more money in a year than they made in their lifetimes.

The Desert Storm Ebbs

By Shirley D. Schmoock

Geez! Turn your back for a second to smell the dogwoods, and the world takes an extra spin on its proverbial axis.

Just try keeping space with the news from Michigan to Georgia, then across the world and back again. It seems that GI Joe has just proposed to LT Scudbuster. She accepted without so much as a review of the odd circumstances. A mother wonders, after all, how legal it might be to take a collect call from Saudi Arabia and commit to a man who might have sand in his ears instead of bells. What if she said yes to a gambler who has won so much money on scorpion races that his pockets have holes in them? Do you know that she said yes to a Kentucky son who is so lovestruck that he strings his sentences together with sobs of happiness and thanks and semi-godly curses to or on behalf of his Higher Power?

Spring must adle brains and hearts absolutely everywhere, especially those of Nature. As the Purple Martins duke it out with the Tree Swallows for full and exclusive possession of our bird hotel, my tulips shiver with the daffodils in the cold rain. I lived through tornado season in the South and a humidity nearly dense enough to walk on. What or where Normal might be or live is beyond my meager comprehension, along with having a total stranger for a son-in-law. But let me tell you a bit about strangers.

My friend Cathy tells me that "strangers are only friends we haven't met yet." I know we warn our young people away from all strangers, and with good reason. But some strangers may save lives, comfort us when we're broken and in pain, or keep us safe from ourselves or others. Why do we close ourselves to friends and relatives, but often open up for complete strangers?

My latest letter was from a complete stranger. Sylvia Taslitt is a former Canadian opera star, who has volunteered to serve her native Israel. She wrote to say how much she enjoyed my daughter, and how much she treasured the experience of arranging home hospitality for the visiting Patriot Air Defense battalions in central Israel.

Sylvia's letter of praise for our guys and gals rendered her no longer a stranger to me, and her warm invitation to visit her and "make your stay in the Holy Land unforgettable" drew her even closer. Of course, when she called my Lisa "a ball that glowed in the night like a star" and begged me to keep her apprised of her career in the future, my mother's heart bulged with pride. Sylvia a stranger? Nonsense!

Perhaps we all just sit and patiently wait for an opportune time in which to relinquish our respective strangerhoods. Being shy might be Nature's unique way of saving us for the "really big shew." And while some people are normally forward, most are not. These respond and shine like stars when needed, but then they quickly diminish and go out when the job is finished. I expect the veterans of Desert Storm went in as strangers, but will come out of the desert as friends to a lot of very thankful people.

It is our job, therefore, to see that their glow never goes out in our own hearts and minds.

Military Cuts Should Start In Europe And At Pentagon

In regard to your article in your paper on the Pentagon's proposed cuts at Camp Grayling.

As you know, the U.S. is going into a deep recession, no matter what the Bush White House says on T.V.

The positive approach to military spending cutbacks is to amend the U.S. Constitution to compare with Germany's and Japan's.

This would limit U.S. Forces to the continental U.S.

Why do we need military bosses all over the world?

Doesn't it make more sense to employ Americans at home in non-tax supported jobs, such as private enterprise!

If the military Industrial complex takes the biggest share of the U.S. debt — hidden budget to supply jobs to people in Foreign countries at U.S. bases, when the infra-structure of this country are falling apart, this passes the tax burden of public spending on to local units of government.

Why do we need to spend 150 billion dollars a year to defend Europe?

On the question of closing bases in the U.S., to cut Pentagon costs, the first place to start is at the top.

The Pentagon itself could be cut by 50% of employees because of the over lapping command structure.

A point in case, is the so-called Gulf War to protect the interests of a family run business in Kuwait.

There is an old Arab saying that says a camel that slips on an oil slick in the sand, should put on a set of horse shoes to regain his position of rank in the herd's movement across the oil fields.

Don't Wait To Show Opposition To Proposed Cuts For Camp Grayling

The news tells us that there is a real danger of tremendous economic loss if the Department of the Army has its way about cutting the strength of the National Guard.

To stop this from happening, the Congress must vote to change the plan. If it is not changed, at least 53 jobs will be lost at Camp Grayling and potentially more if the camp is closed.

In addition, the many thousands of troops who train here will no longer be spending money in local stores or participating in the recreation afforded here.

For a long time many of us have written letters to the editor expressing support for the guard and anger at the minority of people who have used every tool available to convince state and federal officials to cut down or eliminate the activities at Camp Grayling. Those letters might have satisfied inner feelings but probably did little to convince anyone in government to leave the operation of the camp alone. It is a certainty that those anti-camp individuals will be writing letters to our senators and congressmen applauding the idea of reducing the activity or eliminating it from the camp.

Now is the time for local citizens to show an outpouring of letters to the federal and state legislators requesting that they halt the reduction of the guard. Facts and figures are available to demonstrate that this proposed reduction is not as financially sensible to taxpayers as reducing the strength of the regular army by far fewer members.

It is safe to say that anyone who is familiar with the situation, including the writer, will be happy to furnish the facts if individuals feel it is necessary to use some of them in letters to our congressional delegation. In general, however, simply stressing the fact that the cuts would save the army only 1.5% of their $69 billion budget by reducing the guard by 136,000 people will strengthen an individual's argument. This, coupled with the tremendous economic loss of as much as $5.4 million in wages paid here annually, is an excellent argument.

This is not just an issue that will go away if we ignore it. Over the years hundreds of local citizens have expressed to me that they back the camp and its financial contribution here. Now is the time to reach our federal legislators and Governor Engler by writing or wiring to express an opinion.

Write to Congressman Bob Davis for he is on the Military Affairs Committee and represents many northern counties. Included in his territory are Frederic, Maple Forest and Lovells townships. The rest of Crawford County is represented by Congressman David Camp. Send original letters as well as to Senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle.

Remember, the issue will not go away by ignoring it. There is a very vocal group that will make themselves sound like the majority unless citizens who support the camp show the legislators otherwise.

Do it now. Do not wait until it is too late to make your voice heard.

Almanack

Engler protest pretty thin

PITY POOR MICHIGAN Gov. John Engler. He's only been in office 100 days or so and he's got a lot of people mad at him.

Even students at his alma mater at Michigan State University — who should be bursting with pride that a true-green Spartan is governor — are protesting against Mr. Engler.

The MSU protest is because Mr. Engler was invited to give the commencement speech at MSU in June. Some MSU seniors don't want him. They asked for the campus equivalent of a recount. They circulated petitions, howled to the administration, and generally kicked up a fuss.

TO HIS CREDIT, Gov. Engler claimed it didn't bother him. It's the students' right to protest, he said.

"I remember when I was on campus and everybody used to protest the graduation speaker, too," Mr. Engler was quoted as saying. "It's business as usual. It's part of the diversity of the university."

MSU President John DiBiaggio said the invitation stands, despite the protests. It's tradition, the president said. Every time a graduate of MSU is elected governor, he explained, MSU invites him/her back to campus in their first year in office as commencement speaker.

It's happened once before — eight years ago with former Gov. James Blanchard, who lost to Gov. Engler last fall.

IT'S ALL A TEMPEST in a teapot, so to speak.

One news story indicated about 100 MSU students were protesting the Engler invitation. MSU has about 42,000 members of the student body, and the spring graduation class will number 4,000 or so.

Out of that number, 100 protesters is relatively insignificant. Whoever is selected as commencement speaker would draw some unfavorable reviews — even Mother Teresa. Barbara Bush was protested last year; some University of Michigan seniors are unhappy about President Bush's invitation to Ann Arbor this spring.

Gov. Engler can expect some jeers and disrespect when he speaks on June 8. Gov. Blanchard was booed, too. It's a safe prediction that President Bush will be, too. It's in the nature of things. Generally, graduating college seniors do not show much respect for commencement speakers, especially politicians.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES a commencement speaker make anyway?

One of the student protesters at MSU was quoted thus: "I paid a lot of money to go to this school. When I go to commencement, that will be the one last memory I take when I leave MSU."

If the commencement speaker burns the most memorable memory of college into this student's mind, she must have led a dull and empty life on campus.

As time goes on, campus memory fades, and the memory of the commencement speech is one of the first to go. The absolute first is anything the commencement speaker had to say.

Does Gov. Engler remember his commencement speaker? For the record, it was Allen Piper. We looked it up. Now the question: Who is Mr. Piper? What did he say?

I, too, was graduated from Michigan State. I do remember — sort of — the diploma ceremony in cavernous old Jonison Fieldhouse. Who was my commencement speaker? Was it Alben Barkley, or David Lillianthal? They were both on campus sometime during that decade. Or was it Woody Varner? It might have been one of those guys; I don't remember.

But I do remember a lot more about being at MSU than the commencement ceremony — and especially the speaker.

Caring For You

A Health Care Column By Your Local Doctors

By K. Ramaswamy, M.D. F.A.C.S.

General Surgery

"This damn belly is the cause of all troubles" —Homer's Iliad.

Belly Ache—we have all had it one time or another. Most belly aches are nothing more than a mere bout of indigestion after a hearty meal. Sometimes it is serious enough to come under the scrutiny of a surgeon's knife. I will attempt to explain the type of symptoms that may require prompt medical attention. The following is not an all inclusive list, but only a general guideline.

1. Nature of Onset and Severity: Any pain of sudden onset with progressive increase in the intensity indicates some serious underlying problem, especially in the elderly. When one is awakened from sleep by sudden pain, the situation requires further attention.
2. Associated Symptoms: Fever: May indicate underlying infection, such as appendicitis.

Loss of Appetite: most serious conditions causing abdominal pain usually make one lose his/her appetite.

3. Sweating: Profuse sweating indicates that the problem may be serious.
4. Vomiting: Persistent vomiting may be indicative of a bowel blockage.
5. Associated lump/bulge: Severe pain arising from a previously known rupture (hernia—usually in the groin or navel) calls for immediate medical attention.
6. Constipation and Bloating: Especially in the elderly, this may indicate a very serious underlying problem.

Determining the cause of the abdominal pain may sometimes be a real challenge. In most instances the diagnosis is determined by careful listening to the patient's own account of the events leading to the illness and by examination. X-rays and blood tests provide additional information, but not a definite answer.

When you have a belly ache that is serious enough to warrant medical attention, I recommend that you follow some Do's and Don'ts:

- Do check your temperature
- Do bring the list of your medications
- Do have someone drive you or get an ambulance
- Do try to remember the details about the pain (I know it is a pain ... but it is important)
- Don't take laxatives
- Don't take enemas
- Don't drive alone with pain
- Don't eat or drink anything until checked by your physician (emergency surgery may be required)

In future columns I will try to address some of the common causes of abdominal pain (belly ache).

Chamber Update

By Deborah Allen

Chamber of Commerce Executive Director

NEW BUSINESS FEATURE:

Grayling is blessed this week with the opening of two professional businesses that pertain to the health and well being of their clients.

LeValley Chiropractic Clinic opened for business this past Monday, offering patients the very best in nerve and spine rehabilitation. Dr. Dennis LeValley and his wife Donna have lived in the Grayling area for the past two years. They moved to Grayling after a minor accident caused Dr. LeValley to rehabilitate his hip before returning to his chiropractic practice. He practiced for thirteen years before his accident, and is very excited about getting back into his trained profession.

Dr. LeValley was a graduate of the Cleveland College of Chiropractic in Kansas City. He completed an intensive five year program of study, has the qualifications of a Certified Clinical Nutritionist and received specialized training while completing an internship in Radiology.

It is the goal of the LeValley Chiropractic Clinic to alleviate the fear most people associate with going to the doctors and to educate their clients about the benefits of a healthy body. The office and waiting area were personally decorated by Dr. LeValley's wife, Donna, to assure a comfortable and relaxed atmosphere. Donna will also assist as Office Manager for the practice.

It seems more and more people today rely on chiropractors as their primary family doctors. It is a safe and sensible path to natural, permanent relief of pain and the restoration of health.

LeValley Chiropractic Clinic is located at 6251 West M-72, Suite 3, and has office hours Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. All major insurance is accepted. Appointments can be made by stopping in the office, or calling 348-4560.

Also opening is a new service center this week, is "Quick Care" walk in Medical Center located at 1009 North Down River Road. The medical director, Nestor Guno, M.D., has been a member of the northern Michigan medical society since 1974. Like the Alpena and Petoskey clinics, the Grayling Quick Care will offer general and family medical services (including: pediatrics, gynecology, and general medicine) as well as, minor emergency care (stitches, burns, X-rays, etc.). Dr. Guno also has a special interest in Occupational Medicine, which consists of work-related injuries, health concerns, and pre-employment physical assessments.

Quick Care walk in Medical Center was founded in 1985 by Douglas King, M.D., in Alpena. His goal at that time was to provide health care for common medical illnesses, injuries, and chronic conditions on a walk in basis, without the high cost of an emergency room visit.

Quick Care differs from other walk-in clinics in that each medical director is a part owner of the clinic. "We want to make sure the physicians staffing the clinic have a commitment to the community." Each Quick Care Medical Center has a full time medical director/owner to insure that patients will see the same doctor over a long period of time.

Icehouse Breakfast Features Healthy Gourmet Foods

Jill and Dave Wyman will be hosting a Rob and Christine Bartell breakfast on Saturday, May 11, to introduce the Icehouse's new extended "good for you foods that taste good too" gourmet foods.

"We're excited about the new healthy gourmet foods we found in California," said Jill, owner of the Icehouse. "We hope our customers enjoy tasting them as much as Dave and I have."

Saturday's menu will consist of Rob and Christine Bartell's crepes and pancakes covered with fresh fruit and syrup.

The Bartells also market an award winning oatmeal now available at the Icehouse. This oatmeal does not have raisins or cinnamon. It cannot be prepared in two seconds in the microwave. This oatmeal is truly "old fashioned" thick-cut oatmeal. The kind served years ago, before there were cars.

Dave will be doing the cooking and Jill the hosting. They both extend a warm invitation to all their Icehouse friends to come between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. and share their delicious "healthy" breakfast.

Interest by customers in their limited specialty food line encouraged Dave and Jill Wyman to attend the international Fancy Food Buying Show in California during their recent "Americana" buying trip. They brought back many samples of delicious foods from around the United States.

These food items not only add a delicious variety to everyday meals, but they make perfect gifts, just in time for Mother's and Father's Day.

"Gourmet foods make excellent gifts for those difficult to buy for people," said Jill. She said gourmet food baskets have been given as house warming, birthday, and hostess gifts. They make a perfect "Thank You" gift and she said Icehouse food baskets were given last Christmas to employees and business acquaintances as well as friends and relatives.

Many foods in the Icehouse pantry are low-fat, low-cholesterol, and sugar-free products that persons on a restricted diet can enjoy.

Steel's Sauces, a Pennsylvania based company, produces sugar-free fudge, fruit sauces, and syrups that are sweetened with Lycasin®, a hydrogenated starch hydrolyzate, which is a slowly absorbed sweetener.

These sauces include fudge, butter-scotch, raspberry, and strawberry. The flavor of Sunday morning's pancakes and Belgian waffles will be enhanced with Steel's maple flavored, raspberry and wild blueberry syrups. Icehouse clerk Barb Porter is still raving about the baked ham she basted with Steel's sugar-free maple flavored syrup.

Peachtree Specialties produces No-Cholesterol Sweet Cream toppings in lemon, raspberry and tropical fruit flavors. The company also offers low-cholesterol tangy dressings such as Tropical Kiwi & Lime Vinaigrette, Lemon Tarragon Honey Mustard Dressing, Creamy Caesar, and Raspberry Poppyseed.

An unusual new item this spring is Popping Corn on the Cob from southern Indiana. When placed in a paper bag and placed in the microwave, these kernels (still attached to the cob) explode into light, tender morsels that are delicious without butter or seasoning.

From California, comes Just Tomatoes. These dried tomato halves can be reconstituted by dropping them in boiling water for two minutes and then used in any recipe that calls for tomatoes.

Slivered dried tomatoes add color and delicious flavor to green and pasta salads. With only 10 calories each, Just Tomatoes can be used as a chip or cracker in a favorite dip. The Icehouse also carries the Just Tomatoes Cookbook, the perfect companion to tomatoes.

the food basket containing Just Tomatoes.

Jill added several spreads and butters to her inventory of American Spoon Foods. These spreads and butters include Pumpkin and Apple butters; Apricot Ginger, Carrot, and Peach Orange Clove jams; and Tropical Crunch made from an assortment of rainforest nuts and fruits. Twenty-five percent of the profits from the sale of Tropical Crunch is shared with various organizations which are working to preserve the world's rainforests. (Ask Butch Feldhauser about the ham she basted with Peach Orange Clove Jam!)

Pickle lovers can now select from a variety of pickled vegetables like Pickled Asparagus, Spicy Beans, and Snap Peas.

Mendocina Pasta, Guiltless Gourmet bean dip and baked Tortilla Chips, the list of new gourmet foods goes on and on. All the new food products will be at the Icehouse on Norway Street by the end of May, so make plans to stop in and prepare to tantalize your taste buds.

Pd. Adv.

"Oh, my!" puzzles Icehouse clerk Barb Porter as she tries to figure out how she is going to fit all the new gourmet food arrivals in their already bulging pantry.

Adult Education Classes Visit Lansing Museums

By Sarah Volkenborn

Recently forty three students from Bob Prause and Teri Moran's adult education classes took a bus trip to Lansing to the Michigan State University and the Michigan State Historical Museums.

The students stepped back in time to view the showcase of evidence left in the soil at the camps and villages of the Pales-Indians, the first people to live in Michigan about 10-11,000 years ago.

Beautiful birds filled a large room. Colorful handmade quilts hung from the walls. These are only a few of the many interesting artifacts the students saw.

The classes that participated included Law, History, Government, GED, Pre-GED, and ABE.

Friends Needed For County Children

The Crawford County Sibs for Kids Program is accepting applications for mature adult volunteers to act as Big Brothers/Big Sisters to children from single-parent families. This program attempts to provide friendship, support, and entertainment for children who need a special friend and a positive adult role model.

Volunteers vary in age, occupation, and life experience. They are asked to give of their time rather than of their money. To be successful in this program, all one needs is a little time, a big heart, and a desire to share with a child.

Matches are generally based on common interests and personalities. A list of area businesses who discount their goods and services to program members is available and follow-up services to matches is provided.

The Crawford County Sibs for Kids Program currently has a list of children waiting to be matched with adult volunteers. For further program information contact the Youth Service Bureau office at 348-2841, ext. 262. The program is funded by the the Crawford County United Way.

Girls Split Doubleheader With Rogers City

The Grayling High School varsity softball team split a doubleheader with Rogers City at home on May 3.

Senior Nikki Morrill picked up the 8-5 win for Grayling in the second game of the afternoon.

Senior Heather Stephenson went two for three at the plate; senior Lisa Jo Barber was two for two; senior Jennifer Lochner, one for two; and sophomore Heidi Craigie, one for three. Morrill said, "We played a lot better in the second game. We didn't have so many errors and we really hit good in the first inning."

Grayling fell to the Hurons, 14-4, in the first game, with Lochner taking the loss.

Craigie, Stephenson and junior Andrea Austin all were one for two and Lochner was one for three at the plate.

GAMES AT WHITEMORE

The Vikings dropped a doubleheader at Whittemore-Prescott on April 30.

Lochner took the 19-5 loss in the first game.

On offense, Barber went one for one; Lochner, Morrill and senior Shannon Hinds, one for two; and Austin, one for three.

Morrill took the second game loss, 13-0.

Grayling plays Charlevoix on Wednesday, May 8, in a 4 p.m. game; competes in the Tawas Invitational on Saturday, May 11, at 9 a.m.; and goes to Lincoln-Alcona on Tuesday, May 14, for a 4:30 p.m. doubleheader.

Track Team Continues Improvement

Grayling Middle School track team member and 8th grader Nicole Parker broke the GMS record for the girls 1600-meter run with a time of 5:55.94 at the Houghton Lake Invitational on May 3. Nicole won 1st place for her efforts.

Grayling competed against Beaver-ton, Coleman, Gaylord, Houghton Lake, Gladwin and Roscommon.

The 1600-meter run is comparable to the former one-mile run. That record was set by Karyn Reynolds, with a time of 6:00.00, in 1980. Sixteen hundred meters is nine yards shorter than one mile.

Placing 3rd for Grayling were:

Andy Perrin (7th), 70-meter dash; Corey Northrop (7th), 1600-meter run; Brian Dunkley (8th), 400-meter dash; Dunkley, Perrin, Northrop, Shane Hinkle (8th), 400-meter relay.

Winning 4th place for GMS were Parker (long jump) and Hinkle (long jump).

Placing 5th were: Nicole Siwula (7th), 800-meter run and Parker, Danyell Galvani (8th), Renee Meehan (7th), Nicole Wilcox (8th), 1600-meter relay.

VIKINGS SCORE--Senior Heather Stephenson scores from 3rd base in the first game against the Rogers City Hurons last Friday.

JV Team Wins 2 Against W-P

The Grayling High School junior varsity baseball team was busy last week playing three doubleheaders.

The Vikings defeated conference opponent Whittemore-Prescott twice on April 30.

Sophomore Caleb Casey got the 11-7 win for Grayling in the first game, pitching five innings and striking out eight batters.

He was relieved by sophomore Eric LaForest, who pitched one inning and sent the Cardinals down in order.

Leading hitters for GHS were: sophomore Jason Brigham, three for three with two R.B.I.s; sophomore Andy Lochner, two for four with two R.B.I.s; LaForest, two for three with one R.B.I.; sophomore Clem Lochner, two for two with two R.B.I.s; sophomore Mitch McMillan, one for four; and sophomore Loren Lugvial, one for two.

Grayling jumped to a 6-0 lead in the 1st inning, said Coach Bill Klinger, with a two-run homer by McMillan and a solo home run by Nathan Mead pacing the attack.

The Vikings won a close 7-6 second game with A. Lochner going the entire six innings and striking out five batters.

Lochner helped his cause by going three for four at the plate. Lugvial was two for three; and sophomore Steve Branch, McMillan, freshman Paul Hartman and freshman Mike Hartman each had one hit.

VIKES HOST GAYLORD

The Vikings didn't fare so well at home against the Blue Devils the following day, dropping a doubleheader, 7-1 and 10-3.

Casey, sophomore Scott Garner, Brigham and Kirmo each had one hit for Grayling.

"Gaylord was the best team we've played all year long," said Coach Klinger. They're a good hitting team with good pitching. We had our chances to score, but we just didn't get the big hit."

LaForest picked up the loss in the second game, going three innings and giving up eight runs. Brigham pitched the last two innings, giving up two runs.

"It was a good performance by Jason Brigham in relief," said Klinger.

Garner went two for two in the Viking cause; and C. Lochner, McMillan, Casey and Brigham each had one hit.

"Playing back-to-back doubleheaders, we lost some intensity the second day, causing a mental lapse in both games," said Klinger.

AT KALKASKA

Play improved on Friday, when the Vikings split a doubleheader with Kalkaska.

Grayling took the second game, 10-4, with Garner picking up the win and striking out five batters.

Lugvial and Garner both were two for three; while LaForest, C. Lochner and A. Lochner each had one hit.

"After a good practice session on Thursday, Grayling came out and played a much better game against Kalkaska, eliminating their mental mistakes," said Klinger.

The JV Vikings lost a close first game, 9-8, against the Blazers. Casey pitched the first inning before being relieved by A. Lochner, who went the next five in relief.

After the 3rd inning, Kalkaska led, 8-2. In the 6th, down 9-3, the Vikings scored five runs and had the bases loaded with only one out. But they couldn't come up with the big hit to go over the top.

Branch led the Viking hitting attack, going three for three. C. Lochner and S. Garner had one hit each. Grayling had eight walks.

The JV team plays at Charlevoix on Wednesday, May 8, at 4 p.m., hosts Cadillac on Thursday, May 9, at 4 p.m., and hosts Lincoln-Alcona on Tuesday, May 14, at 4:30 p.m.

JV Softball Team Wins 1 Against W-P

The Grayling High School junior varsity softball team split a pair of games with Whittemore-Prescott last Tuesday.

Sophomore Sarah Micek picked up her second win of the 1991 season with a 17-11 victory over the Cardinals in the second game.

Micek hit an in-the-park grand slam in the 1st inning to advance her cause. Coach Lori Johnson said that all the team members hit well in that game.

The Vikings didn't fare so well in the first game of the afternoon, going down 15-11.

Losing pitcher was Jackie Cragg in her first start of the season.

Grayling was ahead, 9-8, in the 3rd inning. But the Cardinals scored seven runs in the final three innings, while holding the Vikings to only two.

GAYLORD AT HOME

The JV squad dropped a pair of games against a tough Gaylord team the following day.

Sophomore Tia Long took the 27-3 loss for the Vikings in the first game.

Micek took the second game loss,

22-9.

AT KALKASKA

Grayling lost a doubleheader on Friday against Kalkaska.

Cragg was the losing pitcher in the opener, 17-7.

Micek took the loss in the second game, 22-0.

The junior varsity Vikings host Cadillac on Thursday, May 9, at 4 p.m., and Lincoln-Alcona on Tuesday, May 14, at 4:30 p.m.

Vikings Take Doubleheader From W-P

The Grayling High School varsity baseball team won a doubleheader against division opponent Whittemore-Preseott last Tuesday.

Junior Eric Bonamie led off with a walk in the top of the 1st inning of the first game. With two outs, senior Max Prosser scored Bonamie on a double off the right field fence. Junior Mark Brannan singled Prosser home to give the Vikings a 2-0 lead.

W-P answered with three runs of their own in the bottom of the 1st.

In the top of the 2nd, senior Matt Teddy walked off with a walk, followed by another walk by senior Scott Cinciala. Branch was forced out at 3rd base on a grounder hit by sophomore Mike Kirmo, but Cinciala scored on a passed ball with two outs. Kirmo scored on a wild pitch, enabling the Vikings to resume the lead, 4-3.

Pitcher Cinciala got the Cardinal batters out three in a row in the bottom of the inning.

In the top of the 3rd, senior Bob Harris was hit by a pitch and Branch was safe at 1st on an error. Harris scored and Branch moved to 3rd base on passed balls. Cinciala grounded out to 1st to score Branch and bring the score to 6-3.

In the bottom of the inning, Whittemore scored five runs, to go ahead, 8-6. In response, the Vikings brought in senior Joel Mack to relieve Cinciala. Mack retired the next three batters.

In the top of the 4th, lead-off batter senior David Teddy walked; then Mack hit a high fly ball over the right field fence to tie the score.

In the bottom of the 4th, Mack got the Cardinals out three in a row.

In fact, said Coach Fred Wolcott, Whittemore managed no hits off Mack, who faced 15 batters in five innings with none of them reaching 1st base.

In the top of the 5th, Branch led off with a walk, then stole 2nd base. Kirmo singled to give the Vikings runners on 1st and 3rd. Bonamie was safe on 1st on an error by the short stop, which also scored Branch. Teddy singled to score Kirmo. Both Bonamie and Teddy moved up on passed balls; then Mack hit a single to score them. Prosser singled and Mack moved to 3rd.

Coach Wolcott said that with two outs, the Vikings then pulled off a double steal which scored Mack, while Prosser was put out in a rundown. But the big Viking 5th brought the score to 13-8.

Mack again put out the Cardinal batters three in a row.

In the top of the 6th inning, Branch singled, but was stranded on 2nd after stealing.

The Cardinals went down three in a row in the bottom of the 6th.

In the top of the 7th, with one out, Teddy walked and Mack hit a two-run homer over the left field fence to bring the final score to 15-8.

Mack got the Cardinals out in order in the bottom of the inning to end the game.

"We had good relief pitching," said Wolcott.

2ND VICTORY

The Vikings were also victorious in the second game, downing the Cardinals, 8-1. Harris pitched the entire five innings for GHS, giving up only two hits.

In the top of the 1st, Branch singled and went to 2nd on a passed ball. Mack hit his third homer of the day to score two runs. Brannan doubled, but was left on 2nd base at the inning's end.

Whittemore scored one unearned run in the bottom of the 1st.

In the 2nd inning, Teddy led off with a walk. Senior Joe LaForest hit an infield single and Kirmo singled to score Teddy. With runners at 1st and 2nd, Branch hit a sacrifice bunt to move the batters ahead one base. With one out, Harris grounded out to the short stop, which drove in LaForest. Kirmo scored on a passed ball to make it 5-1 at the end of the Vikings' at-bat.

Harris got the Cardinals out three in a row in the bottom of the inning.

Grayling threatened in the 3rd, getting Prosser and Bonamie on base with singles, but they couldn't score.

In the top of the 4th, Kirmo was safe at 1st on a short stop error. He stole 2nd, then Harris singled him to 3rd. Mack singled to drive in Kirmo and Harris scored on a passed ball. Prosser doubled to drive in Mack and bring the final score to 8-1.

Neither team scored in the 5th and final inning.

In division play, explained Wolcott, only the first game of a doubleheader counts. However, the second game counts toward the team's overall season record.

"Joel Mack had a real good day," said Wolcott, "with five hits in seven at-bats, including three home runs, seven R.B.I.s and five runs."

Prosser also played well, he said, going five for eight and driving in three runs.

GAMES AGAINST RCHS

On May 3, the Vikings faced a tough Rogers City team which won the pair of games.

Mack started the first game for Grayling, allowing the Hurons five runs in the 1st inning.

They put out the Vikings in order in the bottom of the 1st; then the Hurons also went down in order in the top of the 2nd.

Rogers City added two runs in the top of the 3rd to make the score 7-0. GHS scored in the bottom of the 4th on a lead-off home run over the right field fence by Teddy.

Teddy was brought in to pitch in relief in the top of the 3rd inning with no Huron outs. He retired the next three batters and "did a real good job for the next five innings," said Wolcott. The Hurons added two unearned runs in the top of the 6th to make the score 10-1.

Brannan singled to center field in the bottom of the 7th inning, followed by a double by Harris. Brannan scored from 3rd on a passed ball, then Harris did the same.

But it was hardly enough for the Vikings, who went down in defeat, 10-3. Mack took the loss.

"We faced a tough pitcher and gave up too many runs early, which made it tough to come back," said Wolcott.

Rogers City had 14 hits to the Vikings' four.

2ND GAME

Grayling dropped the second game of the doubleheader by a closer 6-4 score.

Cinciala started for GHS, giving up

GRAYLING HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Parent Support Follows GHS Band To State Festival In Grand Rapids

For the second year in a row, the Grayling High School Band qualified to compete in the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association (M.S.B.O.A.) State Band Festival, held at Grand Rapids South Christian High School on April 27.

Although the band entered at the Class C level, they elected to perform Class AA music, including "The Second Suite in F for Military Band" by Gustav Holst and "Introduction and Caprice" by Carl Strommer.

Director Dennis Ormsbee said, "The band performed on the flat side on stage and the band members realized this. Between the performance area and sight reading, the band mustered for the next room and was told they were the best sight reading group that day."

The sight reading judge gave them an A+ grade with a 1 (highest) rating. The three performance judges awarded the band IIs (second highest), earning the GHS group an overall II at the festival.

Two adjudicators' comments included:

"You have a lot of talent and much potential. Now work on tone control... endurance... and pitch. Work hard to reach your potential."

"You are on the right track. Keep working on getting your rhythm together."

The sight reading judge wrote: "Very mature reading. Splendid job."

Director Ormsbee said that many parents drove to Grand Rapids to view the festival performance.

He concluded, "It was amazing to look out and see all of the parents and friends. I felt like a winner with all their support. It was just incredible to think they would drive that far to see us perform. Words cannot express my deep appreciation for their support."

Gordon Elsner

Book: Onion John

Written by Joseph Krumgold

Onion John was about six foot two. He was a bum. He wore two overcoats and he wore a winter cap. He had short hair and a mustache and had blue eyes.

The setting is serenity. The problem was that it was so dry in serenity that Onion John wanted to make it rain. He needed some people to help. Only two volunteered. This is what they had to do. They couldn't drink water all day. They had to carry four-year-old cedar trees that were on fire and someone had to jump in the river.

I liked it because of fire crackling and Onion John jumping in the river and how Onion John's trick worked.

Stacey Pelton

Book: Island of the Blue Dolphins

Written by Scott O'Dell

Won-a-pa-lei is the main character. She and her family live on an island in a village called Ghaslas-at. Won has an older sister named Ulape and a younger brother named Ramo. Her father was the chief until he died.

Their new chief went to the land of the white people. Then the white men came to get everyone in the village. They all got on the ship, but Ramo went back to get his spear and the ship started to leave. Won jumped out and swam back to the island. Then Ramo got killed by a pack of wild dogs. Won burned down the village and built a new house by the ocean and waited for the ship to return.

I liked this book because of everything that happened. There was a fight between the Aleuts and the people of Ghaslas-at. I like how Won made the weapons.

Tim Hoesli

Book: Banner in the Sky

Written by James Ramsey Ullman

The main character is Rudy. Rudy is small and slim. Rudy also has blonde hair. The other kids in the book have black hair.

This story takes place in a valley. They live in Rudysburg. Rudysburg was named after Rudy. The conflict in this book was that Rudy wanted to climb the Alps. Rudy wanted to make a dream come true.

I liked this book because it had a lot of action. Rudy just about fell off the cliff, and he fought a rattlesnake.

Thomas Lokai

Book: The Door in the Wall

Written by Marguerite De Angeli

The main character is Robin. He is tall. He had brown eyes and hair. His dad had to go to war when he was ten. His mother went to town to be safe.

This story takes place in an old country valley. The story's time is in the 1700s.

The conflict is that a plague was spreading and Robin caught it. A friar named Brother Luke came and took Robin to help him. The friar taught him how to whistle, read, and how to pray.

They went on a journey to a place where Robin would be safe. When they got there Robin found out he was staying with the King! He knew that his mother was around. He wanted to go see her, but the Welsh were attacking the castle.

He went to a door and said, "Don't tell Sir Hugh." He left and met his mother. She looked pale and so he helped her. He met a friar that helped him to the castle. He took his harp and played a song that told Sir Hugh's men to fight.

I would read this book again because it was hard to understand. It was difficult because the author used thy, thee, and thou.

Katy Fritz

Book: Afternoon of the Elves

Written by Janet Taylor Lisle

Sara-Kate seemed weird. She wears clothes that don't fit and work boots. She lives in a house with a junky yard. But Hilary was different. She wore nice clothes. She had long brunette hair. Unlike Sara-Kate she had many friends.

This story takes place in Sara-Kate's backyard. One day Sara-Kate invited Hilary over to play (which she had never done before) in her backyard. When Hilary arrives she sees Sara-Kate bent over looking at something. Sara-Kate motioned for Hilary to come towards her very slowly. Sara-Kate says that what she saw was elves. But Hilary was not so sure.

I like this book because I love reading. I also liked this book because everything was explained ever so carefully.

Rob Lawe

Book: Mrs. Frisby and the Rats of Nihm

Mrs. Frisby is a nice lady. She cares about her children a lot, especially Timmy, her young son. Their house is in the woods by the Fitzgibbon's farm.

Since last summer Mrs. Frisby has been worried about her son, Timothy. Timothy has pneumonia. He almost died because he was so sick. They have to move or they'll all be killed by the Fitzgibbon's plow. They have to move, but they don't know how.

Mrs. Frisby went to the great owl and he told her to go to the rats, the rats of Nihm. They would help her. She did.

I liked this book because it had adventure! It was exciting to read about when Mrs. Frisby went to put sleeping powder in the cat's food. Also I enjoyed reading about when she went and got medicine for Timmy.

Crews Pick Up Civilian Trash Dumped On Camp Grayling Ranges

CIVILIAN TRASH--Camp Grayling crews load an old mattress.

Camp Grayling's annual pre-season cleanup is underway, with crews gathering truckloads of household refuse for disposal at recycling centers and the Crawford-Orsego landfill. On Earth Day-91, eighteen workers from Camp Grayling, Camp Lehman, and the Department of Natural Resources combined their efforts to retrieve trash dumped on the military reservation.

By quantity, old automobile tires headed the list of items gathered, followed by household appliances, bedsprings and mattresses, and auto body parts. As in past years, nearly 100 percent of the trash was household refuse.

"We can usually tell how old the trash is, either by finding it in the same place that was cleaned last summer, or by how much the leaves, branches, and grass have grown over the trash," states Lieutenant Ronald Latuszek, Camp Grayling's full-time Environmental Protection Officer. "Most of this trash is new since last summer."

He also mentioned that rising landfill rates, and the distance to haul their trash, often discourage residents from disposing of it properly. "They would rather have the cost of their trash pickup paid by all the citizens of Michigan."

Latuszek mentioned the generosity of McDonald's of Grayling, Inc., who provided a lunch of burgers, fries, and beverages for the entire hungry crew.

Lt. Latuszek emphasized his desire to keep Camp Grayling free of all trash, and encourage anyone finding some, to either dispose of it properly, or to call the Camp's information hotline, at 348-3708, or 1-800-628-5820, giving precise directions or locations.

In Memory of

In loving memory of Jake Helsel whom God called home two years ago, May 10, 1989.

Death is just another step along life's changing way.

No more than just a gateway to a new and better day.

And parting from our loved ones is much easier to bear

When we know that they are waiting for us to join them there.

For it is on the wings of death that the living soul takes flight

Into the promised Land of god where there shall be no night.

Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren

Senior Citizen Profile

Agnes Nelson -- A Dynamo With 90 Years Experience

Agnes Nelson

by Jan Farley

Agnes Lillian Nelson came barreling into Crawford County on May 13, 1901, and hasn't stopped going yet! She is a true native of the old sandy soil. She was married to Tracy Nelson and lived for a short time in California until his passing and returned to Grayling. Only one child, Bob, remains of the four boys and a girl, and he lives in Beaver Creek. Agnes has 20 grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren and eight great-great grandchildren.

Agnes has lived at the senior citizen complex since it was formed in 1967 and always gives her time to help out anywhere she is needed. In January of 1978 she started working for the Green Thumb program and is still at it today; readying the dining room for the meal program, making sure that everything runs smoothly and that the coffee pot is always on.

Agnes loves to dance and she loves to bowl. She has been a member of the senior citizen bowling league ever since it began in the early 70s. She was a foster grandparent for four years and worked at Mercy Hospital for ten years. She has been a busy, busy gal and that is what keeps her young!

Agnes definitely subscribes to the old adage, "If you don't use it, you lose it!"

AuSable Canoe Marathon Supporters Plan Relay Fundraiser To Oscoda

Supporters of the AuSable Marathon Canoe Race are going to paddle 118 miles -- the entire length of the race -- on Memorial Day weekend to raise money for this year's race on July 27-28.

The race promoters will have a running start at Ray's in Grayling at 9 p.m. Friday, May 31. Two teams of 32 persons will alternate paddling two canoes to Oscoda through Friday night, Saturday, Saturday night, and Sunday morning. Each paddler is raising money with a pledge sheet. The pledge relay is expected to take 38 hours to finish and race supporters say they will make it to Oscoda regardless of hot weather or heavy rains.

Pre-race entertainment will take place at Ray's beginning at 7 p.m., Friday, May 31. Fun races such as inner-tube races or a triathlon, may be part of the entertainment.

The local radio stations, WQON and WGRY, will be providing updates on the relay race to Oscoda. The relay race teams from Grayling will be as follows:

(Team #1 listed first, then Team #2)

This Old World

"Don't you wish this old world was like it used to be,
Back when I was still a child?"
my grandpa said to me.
"We didn't have to lock our doors,
or lie awake in fear.
We carried our own water,
and our lakes were crystal clear.
We didn't have the luxuries,
you'll find in every home.
Like the washer and the dryer,
or the touch-tone telephone.
We didn't have the T.V.
they weren't invented yet.
So we had no way of knowing,
just how bad this world would get.
Drugs were seldom heard of,
and then it was a shock.
Today you'll find a dealer,
on almost every block.
We'd never heard of terrorism,
I'd remember if we did.
Or see a picture on the milk box,
of a missing kid.
They didn't have the warheads,
like they have today.
So we never gave much thought,
to being blown away."
As he stood up from his rocking chair
tears rolled down his cheek.
He reached to take me by the hand,
and though his voice was weak,
He said, "My story would be incomplete,
should I forget this verse,
I believe things will get better, because they cannot get much worse!"

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with Title 40 of the United States Code of Federal Regulations, Section 271.21 (b) (4), the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) is hereby giving notice of its intent to approve the State of Michigan's revised hazardous waste management program under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), as amended. (On April 23, 1991, a notice also appeared in the Federal Register.) The State program revision is due to changes in U.S. EPA's regulations. In its application, Michigan seeks authorization for its analog to the following Federal provisions:

- Dellating (50 FR 28702, July 15, 1985)
- Dust Suppression (50 FR 28702, July 15, 1985)

- California List Waste Restrictions (52 FR 25759, July 8, 1987)

The State program revisions are necessary to maintain equivalency of State programs due to changes in U.S. EPA regulations. U.S. EPA intends to grant final authorization to the State to operate its revised program, subject to limitations on its authority imposed by the Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984 (HSWA).

Approval of Michigan's revised program shall become effective on June 24, 1991, unless adverse comment pertaining to Michigan's program revisions discussed in this notice is received by close of business on May 23, 1991. In that case, U.S. EPA will publish either (1) a notice of disapproval, or (2) a final rulemaking approving the revised State program, which would include appropriate comment response. All comments on Michigan's revised program application must be received by the close of business May 23, 1991. Comments should be sent to Ms. Judy Greenberg, U.S. EPA Region V, Waste Management Division, Office of RCRA (5HR-JCK-13), 230 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, 60604.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

By Wendell Hoover Hartwick Pines Interpreter

It is mushroom time again, with many people seeking out their favorite spots or attempting to locate a hot spot. Whether you consider yourself to be an experienced mushroom collector or a novice, the following rules are well worth heeding. There is no antidote for plant poisoning.

1. Never eat any mushroom unless you are positive of its identification.

2. Never make a pig of yourself, when eating a mushroom you have never tried before, even one which you know is not poisonous. Try only a small portion the first time. You may be allergic to some non-poisonous mushrooms.

3. Never over estimate your ability to identify mushrooms when in a new locality; when collecting an old favorite in a new area, start out by trying only a small portion of it.

4. Before eating any wild mushrooms, learn totally the characteristics of small number of edible species and eat only these.

5. Know the terms used to describe mushroom characteristics, and know the Fatal Five and their characteristics perfectly.

6. Never eat wild mushrooms raw.

7. Do not eat mushrooms with unpleasant or peppery flavors, or mushrooms that are worm-eaten or show signs of decomposition.

The Fatal Five includes the false morel sometimes called "Beef Steak" in this area. While many have eaten the false morel or Gyromitra esculenta, it is known to cause digestive upset at the very least and in some instances death. I would urge you to consult Lorenz C. Parson's book, "The Mushroom Manual" from which I took this information.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick DNR Officer

"Ugly to the last degree" is how one reference (The University Society) has described the Turkey Vulture (Cathartes aura), sometimes referred to as Turkey Buzzard. This bird, seasonally very common in northern Michigan, is about 2 1/2 feet long and has a wing span of six feet. These large wings allow the turkey vulture to soar for hours as it searches for its next meal, which usually consists of carrion. Seldom does this bird kill to eat.

Vultures are well adapted to their life style with keen eyesight which allows them to see dead animals at great distances. The vultures head and upper neck are virtually featherless, allowing it to eat without its upper body becoming matted with slime.

On the wing, vultures are anything but ugly. Usually seen soaring, turkey vultures have dark, two-toned, wings with the wing tips held above the horizontal. (This trait allows one to distinguish vultures from eagles at a distance. Eagles soar with their wings straight out from their bodies.)

Although their appearance and life style may be repulsive, vultures perform a valuable function by consuming dead animals which may become health hazards as well as unpleasant olfactory stimulants.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

Thank You

I've tried and tried to some how say
The words that fill my heart today
But spoken thoughts are tough for me
So I'll try to write them as poetry

To you, dear readers with words so kind
You have brought this old man peace of mind
For you have gave me reason to write
Of those sweet memories that bring delight

As I recalled those bygone years
They have brought me joy and also tears
As I recall old friends of yesterday
I find I soon join them at play

Once more I run and shout with joy
A happy, bare foot, carefree boy
With a mom and dad full of love and care
As I recall those happy days we had to share

Though time were tough when I was a boy
I know there was no lack of joy
We made our toys and played our game
And no one hung their head in shame

For we all knew and understood
That our folks were doing all they could
It was not their fault that we were poor
And had to fight to keep the wolf from the door

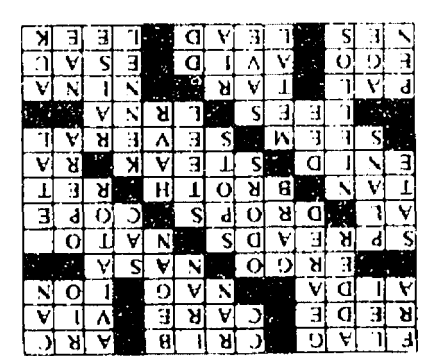

But as I write my poems once more I see
Those treasured days in memory
I'm always happy for the chance to share
Those sweet memories I find there

The Bible Speaks

From The
Calvary Baptist Church

Removing A Guilty Conscience

Few of us can say with the apostle Paul, "And here I do exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward man." (Acts 24:16). The last days will be characterized by people whose conscience has been seared and destroyed. "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron." (1 Tim. 4:1, 20). Because of a denial of God and His truth in the Bible, we find more and more people today who seem to possess no conscience toward right and wrong.

But Christians are not to live this way. "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind. Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness. But ye have not so learned Christ." (Eph. 4:17-20).

Someone has said, "The conscience is a mirror of the soul." A guilty conscience is a sign of hope, not despair. We can clear our conscience before God by confessing our sins to Him and asking His forgiveness. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (1 John 1:9). In the Lord's prayer we are taught to daily pray that God would forgive us our sins or debts to Him as we forgive others. "For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." (Matt. 6:14, 15). Therefore, we must ask forgiveness of other people as well as God if we are to be cleansed of a guilty conscience.

Then to avoid getting a guilty conscience again, live right toward God and others. "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another; for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Romans 13:8, 9).

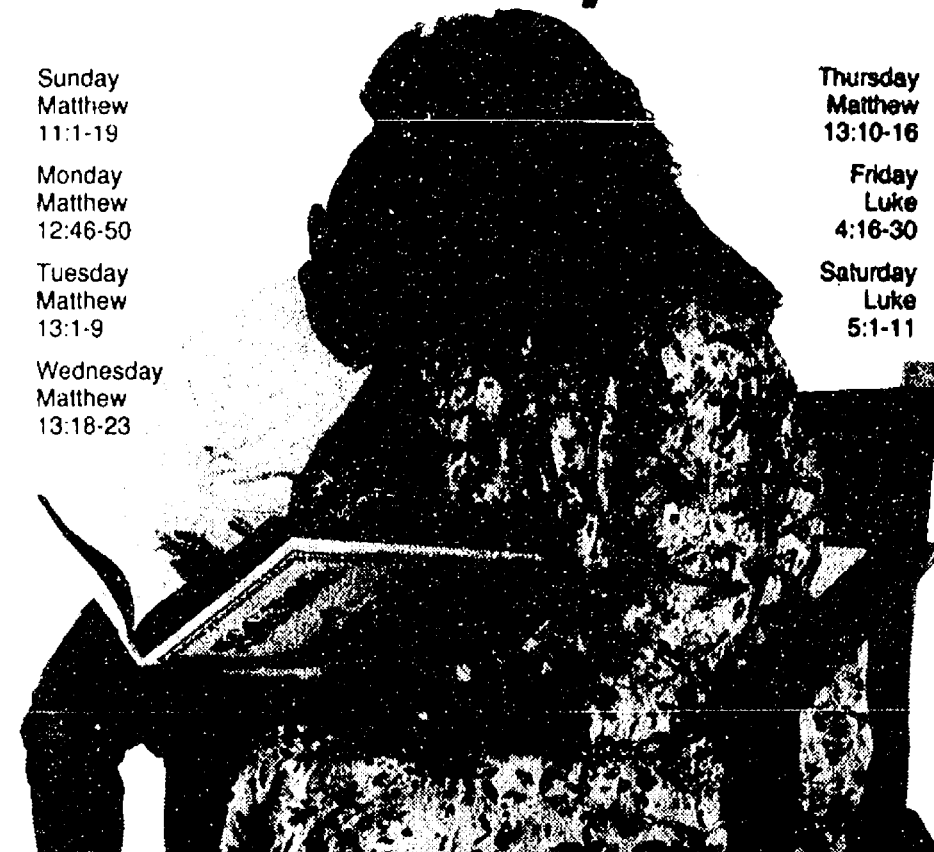

If you are unsaved, God send Jesus Christ to die on the cross for your sin and guilt if you will accept Him today as your God and savior. (John 3:16, Romans 10:9, 10, 13). Let God purge and clean your conscience today. Have a happy, rejoicing conscience. (2 Cor. 1:12; Rom 14:22).

Bonded by Love

Scriptures Selected by
The American Bible Society

Emotion and suspense charge the atmosphere. The arrival of new life is imminent. Then the miracle... a kitten-like cry announces the birth of yet another human life.

Briefly, the physical connection between mother and child continues to pulsate. Then, with one swift motion, that bond is severed. Yet, the emotional bond which has existed between mother and child for months will remain intact always.

In time, the child will reach young adulthood. Though mother will be unable to "fix" the problems of her offspring as easily as changing a diaper, there is something she can do. While her child is small, she can introduce her son or daughter to a personal relationship with God. As Mary said to the angel in Luke 1:38, "I am the Lord's servant."

As we worship this week, may we thank God for the bonds of love between mother and child and between her child and our Heavenly Father. May they last forever.
